

Customer:
YCC #216

System:
Domestic hot water supply and recirculation system.

Problem

Constant pinhole leaks on the hot water risers were costing thousands in insurance claims and nightmare for the condominium corporation. A re-pipe was done on half a building and resulted in law suits and uproars amongst the condominium community.

Solution

Apply CPL pipe lining systems to the domestic hot water systems without the hassle of removing walls and kitchen cabinets. This project saved the customer 30% when compared to the original re-pipe project that was done on the other half of the building.

How did we do?

The CPL crew worked in a professional and courteous manner and always kept the units neat and clean. The pipe lining project ended up taking half the time and almost half the cost of a traditional repipe project.
